

CATHERINE A. ADAMSKI, Ph.D.

GRADUATED FROM EDGAR HIGH SCHOOL IN 1974

After graduating from Edgar High School in 1974, Catherine A. Adamski earned her B.B.A. degree at the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater in general business/computer center administration emphasis. She then received an M.S. degree from Dartmouth College in Hanover, NH, in Computer and Information Science. She has taught statistics and operations management class at the University of Minnesota and at Metropolitan State University in Minneapolis.

In 1983, Catherine coordinated initial integration testing of the new Fedwire System at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. She has presented at the National Conference of the Institute for Operations research and the Management Sciences in Chicago in 1993. Catherine also consulted with the St. Paul Police Department on staffing 911 operations.

Catherine's current job is integrating corporate forecasts for the strategic planning function of USAA, a Fortune 500 financial services company located in San Antonio, Texas.

Catherine is the daughter of Felix and Agnes Adamski, Edgar.